

FESTIVE FUN: Ballet dancers Aoife O'Keefe, Sarah Hanly and Hannah Greene promote Geansai Nollaig Day in aid of Barretstown

CLOTHES CALL FOR CHARITY

● IF YOU love your Christmas jumper and fancy raising some money for a worthy cause, then Dublin's South King Street is the place to be this Sunday.

The event will see Christmas jumper wearers of all ages, shapes and sizes gather en masse at 2pm to set the world record for the highest number of Christmas jumpers in the same place at the same time.

The 'Geansai Nollaig' jumper bonanza aims to raise money for the well-known children's charity Barretstown.

● People from all over the land are invited to take part by donning their most festive jumper creations.

They will be invited to sing along to some classic Christmas carols, enjoy some on-street entertainment for all the family and soak up the atmosphere at this altogether alternative Christmas celebration.

For updates and information, check out Dublin City Business Improvement District's brand new website www.dublinatchristmas.ie