

Luas sticking the naff in LUAS has joined the effort to break the world Christmas-jumper record on Geansaí Nollaig Day. This Sunday at 3.30pm on Dublin's South King Street, Dublin City Business Improvement District will attempt to gather the most people wearing naff Christmas jumpers in one place in aid of Barretstown. To help the effort, Luas style guru Lorna Weightman will be on the lookout for the best Christmas geansaís on the day and will give free Luas day passes to those who she thinks look extra festive. Lorna is also giving tips on how to make your jumper extra Christmassy on the Luas Facebook page. 'Get out your sewing kit, stencils and cotton balls and let's make the country proud on December 4th,' said Luas spokesman Tom Manning.

Guru of the garish: Lorna Weightman will pick the best Christmas geansaís